

Course Instructional Mode

Students can take SUNY Adirondack courses in a variety of course instructional modes, ranging from traditional in-person classes to fully online courses, and options in-between. Students should plan to attend class the very first day of the semester, regardless of mode. Students should plan to work a minimum of 9-12 hours a week for each 3-credit course. Courses that have online options will require a significant amount of writing, using course communications tool built into the web-based learning management system.

The following chart provides the framework for the three standard types of instructional mode:

Course Section Formats	Campus Code	Campus	Common Des
Traditional	TR	Queensbury Saratoga	fully in-person
Online	ON	On-line	fully online co
Remote Synchronous	RS	Virtual	fully in-person WebEx or sim

The college also provides variations of the standard types:

Course Section Formats	Campus Code	Campus	Common Des
Hybrid	HY	Queensbury Saratoga	half in-person and half online
Remote Online	RO	Virtual	half through Z similar) and ha
Flexible	FL	Queensbury Saratoga	students attend in-person, or th (WebEx or sim the recorded le time to learn co

Course Instructional Mode

Published on SUNY Adirondack Academic Catalog (<https://catalog.sunyacc.edu>)

Course Section Formats	Campus Code	Campus	Common Desc
Flexible Synchronous	FS	Queensbury Saratoga	students attend in-person or th (WebEx or sim

Source URL: <https://catalog.sunyacc.edu/courseinstructionalmode>